Twenty-eight all steel, motor trucks, combrising the first company of a number organized in Chicago for the use of the United States army in the campaign against Villa, arrived in El Paso on a special train Saturday morning at 11 oclock, accompanied by civillan divers recruited for this service. Immediately after arriving here the trucks were checked and about westward to Columbus, and other points along the border where it is said they are needed at present to transport provisions and munitions to the two invading expeditions. The train consisted of 14 flat cars carrying two trucks each, a bargage coach and a cahooge.

A dispatch sent to the border Friday afternoon by Van Camp was the first to reach the outside world of the movement of the American troops, though the fact that the troops were between Assencion and Janos had been announced Friday afternoon through information obtained from the Constitutionalist officers by The Herald. Van Camp is said to have ridden into Guxwon horseback, and, after explaining his mission to the soldiers and officers, who placed him under arrest, was permitted to send his message of the army movement without cost.

Upon the concluding of his mission. Van Camp precured the service of Tandy Sanford and went west to rejoin the Psending column. The fact that he was in Guzman at the time stated and that he expected to rejoin the column without difficulty, confirms the report that the expection was mearing Janos Friday.

Julio San ford said that he saw some of the alwains guard of the American army passing west of Guzman but did not see the main column. He siso stated that the Carranas soldiers and the expedition and that they dislike Villas so much that it makes little difference to them how he is caught.

HAD HARD TRIP TO MEXICANS

Cars; No Food in Torreon and No Work.

Sunday morning, March 12, the American colony at Torreon resulted word that the American troops would cross into Mexico in pursuit of Villa. The word came to five of the colony in separate messages, some of them codes. During the afternoon consul A. L. Williams received an official message from Washington. D. C., stating that the troops would enter Mexico. He then called the Americans together in a meeting and word was sent to the head-quarters of the Thahusillo plantation, that a number of the Americans and members of the foreign colony proposed to leave for the border on the first available train.

The story of the departure from Torreon was brought to El Paso by a business man of Torreon Saturday morning, who, until the disturbance lin Mexico is at an end, will be with his family in Los Angeles.

le at an end, will be with his ramity in Los Angeles.

"After tailing it over in one of the rooms of the hotel," said the business man, "20 of the Americans decided to stay behind and take their chances. Some of this number said they would have to remain mill they could put their business into some sort of shape. "On Monday there was no train. We became very anxious. The officers of the commandancia wege not discourteous, but there was a feeling of resentment among the soldlers that we did not like. On Tuesday morning at a colock we succeeded in making up a train in which the employees and their families from the Tinhualito plantation had one box car; the employees of the Continential Rubber company, of Torreon, another; and the third box car was occupied by the employee of the Torreon smelter.

Sat On Box Car Floors.

"Without any accommodations whatever and atting on the floor and our baggage, we began the floor and our baggage, we began the journey northeast. At Pantano we had to wait for some 20 hours to make connection with the train to Eastle Pass, while the majority of the refugees went up a few hours earlier by the Larsdo route.

"We left Torreon because to us it looked as if intervention had come. We felt that if the Constitutionalists retailated that we would be made prisoners and we know that if Villa, or his many sympathisers in Torreon were to take the city or murder the small garrison, we would all be massacred; and taking everything but consideration, we felt there was only one thing to do and that was to come out and wait until the country is restored to order.

Food Supply Is Scant.

until the country is restored to order.

Food Supply Is Scant.

The food supply in Torreon is very scant and the lower classes have little if anything. They have no work to enable them to earn money and the supply of corn and beans is much drawn upon. The people with money can still buy pretty much what they wish, but it takes money. The business of the district is all shot to pieces' and I should not healtate to say that there are 10,000 unemployed men in Torreon. "It is the lack of work that makes the Mexicans of the lower class follow soldering at all. I know then well enough to know that they would much rather be engaged in peaceful purants. The middle classes in Torreon as well as all Mexico are responsible for the state of anarchy and naturally they are fighting, not for any principles, but for their own protection.

Many Americans Come Out.

Immediately after arriving here the trucks were checked and bent west ward to Columbus, and other points after according to border where it is said they are according to border where it is said they are according to the provisions and munitions to the two fiveds and high the consisted of 1s flat cars carrying two trucks each, a bargage couch and a cahoose.

Mules Arrive.

The chipment of Missouri army mules which was made from St. Louis, arrived here Saturday and will be sent to Columbus at once for the use of the pack trains soing to the front.

Green horses are being broken at Fort Biles for the use of the pack trains soing to the front.

A field hospital is being set up at Columbus with a number of large tents, several small tents and cots, trains, and the same stay—by March El, and if he wanted to train the would have the city would be a very simple proposition. I doubt whether the Constitutionalist army, all told in Mexico, numbers more than 15.000 men and of this number Gen. Pablo Gonzales controls the majority in the neighborhood of Mexico City."
